

have paid $1500 on the debt of their church. Ladies of Merced have built a parsonage. Fresno ladies have aided with their new church; also the ladies of the Brooklyn Church, East Oakland. All this has taken largely from our missionary contributions, yet it has been necessary work and might, I think, be termed home mission work. We are hoping that when these pressing demands on the ladies of so many of our auxiliaries are satisfied, more attention will be given to the mission work.

We are not aware that the committee was appointed by your honorable body at the last session of the synod. If so, we had no notice, official, or otherwise of it.

We have, however, pursuant to the even tenor of our way with the result as above stated.

I herewith append the treasurer's report, which makes his figures $491.07 less than Mrs. Boyd's, the executive treasurer. Our treasurer thinks money must have been sent to Mrs. Boyd without passing through her hands. All of which is respectfully submitted.

L. A. M. GROVE, President.

Brief address made by Rev. L. D. Munro, Dr. Irwin and Rev. Arthur Crosby, on the subject of home missions.

Yesterday's Session.

At 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the elders' meeting was held for one hour, presided over by Elder J. K. Law of Merced.

The first few minutes were occupied in devotional exercises. The opening prayer was offered by Elder Samuel of Santa Rosa, after which the president read a passage of scripture.

A discussion was then conducted relating to the duties of the eldership in pastoral work, when necessary, in visiting the sick and advancing the cause of the church. Elder Trumbull took a prominent part in the discussion, which was illustrated by hymns and prayer. The meeting was closed with a prayer from Rev. Mr. Graham. Their resolutions on Sabbath observance will be found below.

The session of the synod was called to order at 9:35 yesterday morning, by the Moderator, who welcomed the members.

Appointments for Sabbath services were read.

Prof. Albert M. Macaulay of Chicago and Dr. Irwin of the Board of Home Missions were invited to sit as corresponding members.

The report of the Committee on Fraternal Correspondence appointing delegates to corresponding bodies was read and the report adopted.

A motion was made that the synod return to the old rate of mileage, which deducts $5 from the members' expense accounts before paying his bill. This motion was carried.

The report of the Committee on Systematic Benevolence was read and adopted. The committee had recommended that the full duty in respect to systematic giving. It recommended that ministers faithfully present, both in the pulpit and in the home, the New Testament rule of giving; and also, that the children should be instructed in the principles of giving to the Lord's work and be taught to bring up to church on the Sabbath with their gifts.

SABATH OBSERVANCE.

The Permanent Committee on Sabbath Observance read its report as amended to embody a petition to the State Legislature, urging it to enact Sunday laws. It was resolved to send a duplicate of the petition to the Nevada Legislature. Dr. Law and Dr. J. C. Wheeler were appointed as a committee to present the petition to the Legislature. Following is a text of the petition:

"The Synod of the Pacific of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, residing in the State of California, do hereby petition the Legislature of the State of California to enact a Sunday law that will bring this State into line with the majority of the States of the Union. We do not ask for the enactment of sectarian laws, but we do pray for the recognition of Sunday as a civil institution, and a day of rest, on political and moral grounds. We believe that we represent the opinion of a large and growing population of this State, who sincerely desire its highest prosperity, and whose wishes deserve the consideration of your honorable body."

On motion, a committee consisting of Revs. Ellis, Adams and Strong was appointed to consult with the ladies as to the organization of a State branch of the Ladies' Home Mission Society.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Report of the Committee on Freedmen was read and adopted. The committee urged upon the synod the importance of this work among a race which had been groaning in slavery for two centuries and was now growing up as a generation of free citizens who had great natural gifts.

Report of the Committee on Church Extension was read and accepted. The sum of $150,000 was needed for the ensuing year, and it was hoped that this synod would give its share.

It was resolved that a prayer-meeting should be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, in this church, to seek the divine blessings on the synod, the church and its pastor, conducted by Dr. Wheeler.

The committee on Presbyterial Records was read and adopted.

The minutes of the six Presbyteries of Benicia, San Jose, San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles and Stockton were reported as examined and found correct, and they were recommended for approval, which was granted.

The report of the Committee on Ministerial Relief was read and accepted. It was desired to see the church adopt a most uncompromising position in the front ranks of temperance reform. As the original resolutions of the committee have therefore been altered and amended, we submit the text of the resolutions that have been voted on and stand incorporated in that report.

First—That our churches and Sunday schools should be interested and instructed in the principles of giving to aid the cause of temperance.

Second—That we reiterate the judgment of the General Assembly against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage, and against the retailing of one's property knowingly for such manufacture and sale. We admonish our members to avoid all complicity in the traffic.

W. L. SCOTT, Chairman.

The report embodying the above resolution was accepted as a whole and adopted. It was announced that the meeting in behalf of foreign missions last night would be presided over by Rev. J. M. Thompson. H. H. Rice was in the report of the Occidental Board, and addresses were to be delivered by Rev. J. Q. Adams and Dr. Alexander.

The treasurer read his report, and it was referred to the Auditing Committee.

The session, which had been extended to 12:30, adjourned at that hour until afternoon.

THE ELDERS' MEETING.

The elders in attendance at the synod held a meeting yesterday morning, at which the following resolutions were adopted:

We are aware that there is no statute law in our State in regard to Sabbath observance, but we, as elders in the Presbyterian Church, recognize the fact that the divine law which says, "Remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy," is as binding now as in the days of Israel, and therefore,

Resolved, that we earnestly plead for the sacred observance of God's holy day.

That we urge upon not only the officers of our beloved church but also the members to set a faithful example in regard to Sabbath observance.

That the chairman of this meeting appoint a committee of three to prepare a paper on this subject to be published in the Occident.

That all the ministers in charge connected with the synod be requested to preach on the subject at an early date.

That this committee prepare a suitable memorial on Sabbath observance, to be presented to the General Assembly of our State.

Committee: J. M. COYNER, J. R. DONALD, J. H. TAYLOR.

KITIE GOMEZ.

She Has Her Brutal Husband Arrested for Battery.

Kitie Gomez yesterday swore to a complaint against her husband, J. A. Gomez, a waiter at Jerry Illies's restaurant, charging him with battery, before Justice Taney. A warrant was issued for his arrest, and last night Gomez was arrested at the restaurant by Officer Abbie and taken to the police station, where he deposited $250 cash bail for his appearance, and was released.

The couple have been leading a sort of cat-and-dog existence for some time, and numerous rows have been the result. The woman and man are both addicted to drinking, and when under the influence fights are of every-day occurrence, but when they sober up their differences are adjusted. The woman is heard from them only the next quiet. They have been comparatively quiet for some weeks, consequently when word was received by the officers from Kitie yesterday that she was again in trouble they were somewhat surprised. One of them at once repaired to the place where the woman was, and found her about half-drunken, but not too drunk to know what she was talking about. She said that her husband had given her a fearful beating, and she wanted him arrested. He had kicked her about the body until she was black and blue, and in several places large patches of skin had been knocked off, but the brute had sense enough not to strike her in the face, where it would show. The woman was told that she would have to swear out a complaint against Gomez, which she said that she would do, and started out for that purpose, but was delayed, and it was late in the afternoon before she could get to the Justice's office. After getting a warrant she was brought to the police station, where the warrant was given to Abbie to serve, and Mrs. Gomez was sent to the Hollenbeck where she secured a room for the night. It was thought that the two hundred and fifty-dollar bail would keep Gomez behind the bars for a night, but he put up the money and was released.

He is the same couple that figured in a mysterious shooting affair on Temple street several months ago, in which the woman said that she had attempted to commit suicide. Her husband was in the room at the time and the circumstances connected with the affair caused a great deal of talk. The woman is quite good-looking and is a well-known character on the streets. She has very curly red hair, which is generally supposed to be a wig, and always dresses in a smart, stylish manner. She is a dark individual, a waiter by occupation, and has worked in a number of restaurants in the city. He is said to be a first-class man in his business.

FIRE COMMISSIONERS.

Appointments for the Boyle Heights Engine.

The Fire Commissioners met at the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon, with Messrs. Humphreys and Teed present and Mayor Workman absent. Chief Moriarty was also present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, after which a petition was received from M. Kellaher against the operation of the East Side planing mill on Truman street, claiming that his property had been damaged to the extent of at least $1000, and asking that a license be refused until the matter could be investigated. Referred to the Fire Chief and Councilman from the First Ward.

Chief Moriarty reported that he had investigated the matter of the bay windows in the Crandall building on First street, and that, under the order of the owners of the building could not be reached.

Chief Moriarty submitted a report about the Maloney hose carts, and he was instructed to have the contracts drawn up at once.

Mr. Teed moved that the forces of the outside companies and the Park hose be reduced to four men and a foreman. This will include the companies on Temple street and Boyle Heights. The inside companies will remain as they now stand. The motion was adopted.

The following appointments were made for the Boyle Heights engine: Engineer, S. D. Tilton; driver, Cyrus Lyons; driver of hose cart, A. F. Bland; foreman, J. W. Brown; rail men, H. C. McClure, Charles Bell, A. Valenzuela, J. M. Brayton.

It was also resolved that two of the extra men should sleep in the engine-house at all times.

The usual weekly bills were read, approved and ordered paid.

The board then adjourned to look at a number of horses that had been brought around for their inspection. Three Pulis were finally purchased—one from Walter S. Maxwell for $275, one from Jim Curry at $300 and one from Campbell at $250.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

The Anti-Gouldites Step Down and Out.

The Prohibition County Central Committee held a meeting yesterday in the office of Will D. Gould, the secretary. It was voted to place the names of Walter Van Dyke (Republican), H. K. S. O'Melveny (Democrat) and W. T. Kendrick (Democrat) on the judicial ticket.

For Assemblyman of the 76th District, Benjamin Walton of Coughton was nominated to take the place of Baumgartner, who has removed from the district.

Mrs. Lucy D. More, a member of the County Central Committee, representing the W. C. T. U., presented her resignation on the ground that the management of the committee had been thrown to the hands of one faction, and the organization which she represents does not wish to take part with either faction as against other temperance organizations.

The resignation was accepted on motion of Will D. Gould.

ames. Townsend also presented his resignation from the Committee on substantially the same grounds. His resignation was also accepted.

H. C. Cross resigned for a similar reason some time ago.

The afternoon session was taken up with routine business—planning the campaign.

The organization as it now stands is supposed to be committed to the Gould faction.

The Law-and-order Element.

There is no question but that the law and-order sentiment throughout the city is growing every day. It was rumored last night that 100 of the best men in the city, irrespective of party, had met in Tyler Longstreet's Hall during the evening and formed a permanent organization. The motto of which is that "Good Local Government Must Exist in Future."

Incorporations.

The Los Angeles and Glendale Railway Company filed amended articles of incorporation yesterday, increasing their capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000, according to the unanimous vote of the present stockholders. John Cross is president and Albert P. Cross secretary of the Board of Directors.

IRISH-AMERICANS.

E PLURIBUS UNUM AND ERIN GO BRAGH LAST NIGHT.

Spirited Addresses from Gen. H. G. Hollins, C. C. Stephens, T. J. Dupuy and John F. Hogan—A Good Time.

The Irish-American Republican Club held a rally at the wigwam on Second street last night. Conrades Brady and Kutz played the fife and drum in great style before the door, and "Garry Owen" and "St. Patrick's Day" awoke old memories in the minds of the warm-hearted Irishmen as they came up Second street to the meeting. Many of other nationalities attended, sure of a good time and lively Irish speeches, and not a few of the colored brigade sat and haw-hawed as the jokers came fast and furious. When the musicians wound up with "Kankie Doodle," and went inside, nearly every seat in the wigwam was taken, and a first-class audience was ready for the speeches.

THE DECORATIONS.

The usual decorations were enhanced on the occasion by the banner of the club, which stood beside the platform. On it was vividly depicted the American eagle lifting a hungry-looking British lion by the scruff of his neck, while he vainly digs his claws into the fertile soil and apes for free trade. The eagle is encouraged by the legend, "E Pluribus Unum—Erin Go Bragh."

He was also specially encouraged last night by the Irish-American Republican Club, among the audience, and decked out occasionally in that green, so dear to Ireland, which has now driven the British red from the realms of fashion.

Michael Craig, president of the club, conducted the meeting, and Secretaries Thomas Brady and C. A. McGowan kept the minutes and took the names after the meeting was over.

The following list of vice-presidents was announced: F. Hogan, J. P. Kelly, O. T. Trantum, Charles Walker, E. Blennerhassett, Col. Mahon, J. C. Murray, R. B. Treat, H. B. Boyer, S. M. McGowan, John Mansfield, Dr. W. C. Curran, D. Gilbert, Dexter, H. T. Hazard, H. Z. Osborne, H. G. Otis, George Bonebrake, P. M. Darcy, Patrick Ellis, C. C. Conley, C. E. Daley, H. H. Appel, J. H. Conlee.

GEN. H. G. ROLLINS.

Was introduced and made a forcible and well-considered address. He opened up all the leading issues of the campaign, and was followed by his own list of protectors. He seemed to follow his arguments closer than the ladies, and it is safe to predict that many future voters will be converted by the words of such gentlemen as have listened to his campaign.

Gen. Rollins read the words of Bismarck himself to show that the greatest of living statesmen believed in the protection of home industries, and had urged his country to "emulate the example of the United States." He then read the long list of articles now imported under the existing tariff, and asked why our money should be sent abroad for anything we could get at home? Why the money should be made here and keep the money in our own country.

He deplored the dignity of toll, and while denouncing the "tariff," he is dealt out to the workingman by political speakers, he showed that in this country labor is really the source of wealth, and that all comforts and luxuries are the products of toll of the brain and hand. The locomotive which draws the luxurious coaches across the nation, the cotton which makes the clothes we wear, the iron which makes the tools we use, all these are the products of the labor of the Irish-American.

Adopted citizens have flocked here from all parts of the earth to better their condition. If free trade is adopted they will be set back, and their last condition will be worse than their first. Here the laborer gets fair wages, good clothes and a pleasant home. How can he compete with a man working in England for 40 cents a day?

The speaker then compared the records of the two parties. He showed that the Whig and Republican parties the country owed the homestead act, the preemption act, the law of mining claims and the present excellent financial system. The great work of reconstruction since the war was also touched upon, and credit given the Republican party for its gigantic achievements. All these things have the Democratic party opposed.

He gave the history of the Golden Rule Club of Great Britain and of its distinguished members, Secretaries Bayard and Endicott, Judge Lamar and Speaker Carlisle. He concluded with a brilliant eulogy of Harrison.

C. C. STEPHENS.

then came forward and made a rattling good speech. He told lots of stories, and told them well, and his audience kept time with a constant ripple of merriment. He ridiculed the Democratic honor of a surplus, and showed how some of it might be scattered around erecting, for instance, a new Gibraltar in the Pacific, or a great navy might also be improved, so that we could send a respectable warship to Hong Kong or Alaska, if need be.

He alluded to Maj. Arbuckle, singing his little Chinese song for the Democrats, and said that when Burlingame brought over his first three-button Chinese suit, Democrats magnates drank with them till they slid under the table. The Chinese question in this State has never been a political one. Harrison voted against the first exclusion bill, under the Burlingame treaty, because he did not want to break faith with friendly power. Ever since then he had been steady and persistent in excluding the Chinese. The whole power of the Pacific Slope has not so educated eastern sentiment on this Chinese question as had that one great statesman of the Republicans, James G. Blaine. [Great applause.]

He asked why Cleveland was renominated, and made great fun of him. He scored him in his list of the veto power and on the pension question, and kept the girls all giggling at the ponderous statesman of the White House. Speaking of "free whiskey," he said that if the Democrats once really believed that the Republican platform meant that Cleveland could count upon his fingers all the votes he would get. The speaker then took up with a sign the "tariff chestnut," as he called it, and gave it some novel and amusing illustrations. He said, for one thing, that without a tariff there was no excluding the Chinese, for they could make our goods just as well in their own country and ship them over here. He then paid his respects to the Greenbackers, and wound up with a great old Mississippi story of "Set him again for the veil," which alone could explain the wish to renominate Cleveland.

was called on by the audience for a speech, and made a brief but good one. He spoke slowly and forcibly, and reaped much applause. After a general discourse, he made a warm eulogy of the Irish-American country ticket, relating how Martin Aguirre had, at the risk of his life, saved those endangered by the great flood of the Los Angeles River. He spoke of the approval of anonymous attacks on Clerk Dunsuor, and predicted that they would be refuted at the polls. He touched that if Frank Kelly were elected District Attorney he would make a good one and do his duty energetically, and he spoke of justice like the Woolstenholme and Rozelle cases would become a thing of the past. He spoke a good word for their associates on the ticket, and asked that all stand together and vote it straight next November.

HOGAN.

The Chairman started to adjourn the meeting, but the crowd wanted Hogan, and would have him, so the old gentleman came forward, and made one of those short speeches which more often can emulate. He said that Denis Kearney was to speak in this city next Saturday night, and denounced him as a rascal, a scoundrel, a scoundrel, a scoundrel. He spoke of Col. Irish getting $100 a night for talking Democratic, when he ought to be back in Ireland returning thanks to the people of the food which the Republican Morton had sent over to keep him from starving. He said the Democrats were a drunken lot of scoundrels, and the Irish would give them what the English call "ell in November."

The crowd laughed and cheered so loudly that Capt. Hogan could only wait until he had the lot down, and the meeting adjourned.

MR. ADAMS'S SIDE.

The President of the Young Men's Republican Club sends the following communication to THE TIMES relative to Mrs. Wilson's bill of $12.

"An item which appeared in THE TIMES, with reference to the Young Men's Republican Club, does gross injustice to Mr. Adams, one of the most faithful and active members of the club, by stating that he had certain moneys in his hands for the payment of the club, and had spent them in the executive committee, and found correct in every particular, and he has not had or used one penny of club-money, except in payment of club-bills."

"Mr. Adams, though a poor man, has freely contributed his time and money to the club, and is one of its most useful members."

"The fact with reference to the bill being presented to Mr. Hutton, is that the amount of the order in favor of Mrs. Wilson was deducted from the bill of Davis, but the club has not had the money to pay the order. Hutton incurred a large liability in fitting up the wigwam, a portion of which has been paid."

"Mr. Hutton guaranteed the payment of the order, but having advanced a large sum out of his own pocket for the payment of club-bills, is not willing to pay this order until it is certain that the club cannot raise a subscription sufficient to meet its indebtedness."

"The credit of the club is not being banded about, except that the gentlemen whose names are mentioned in THE TIMES article have assumed and carried more than their share of the burden of the campaign."

"In the event of the club's being sufficed or not, the fact remains, as stated, that Mrs. Wilson is still minus her $12, and wants it very badly. As to the minor details in dispute, the question of veracity between Mrs. Wilson, whose statement was published Friday, and the club-president, whose version is given above.—EDITOR TIMES."

ANTELOPE VALLEY.

A LITTLE KNOWN SECTION OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Lands of Wonderful Productiveness—Grain, Root Crops and Raisins—Not a Desert—Water in Many Places Near the Surface.

ANTELOPE VALLEY, Oct. 5.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] I have noticed from time to time interesting articles in your city papers relating to Antelope Valley, and am surprised that more has not been written about this very productive and well-watered region, situated in the northern part of Los Angeles county. It is one of the best-watered sections of equal area in Southern California, and has a soil which cannot be surpassed for richness and fertility.

Strange to say, it has been only during the past year that the general public have awakened to the consciousness that good Government land is to be found in Los Angeles county; and a fertile field, where opportunity is given men of small means to make homes for themselves.

In some parts of the valley may be found good, sweet water, not over four or six feet from the surface. This is in a tract which covers miles of productive ground lying northeast of Lancaster, which is situated in the center of the valley, occupying a sandy rise of ground in character of soil totally different from the farming country. It is at this station that the trains water and take on their helpers to climb the mountains beyond, and doubtless, from this barren, sandy appearance, it has given rise to many erroneous ideas of the superficial opinion in regard to the whole valley. We would add, however, that even in the driest spots the earth is made to bring forth fruit and yield of increase, as Mr. Shearer's fruit trees and the little alfalfa patch of the hotel proprietor, Mr. Case, well testify. Water can be found from 12 to 15 feet from the surface at this place, and artesian water is an established fact, the town containing two fine flowing wells, one at the station and one in front of Mr. Shearer's store. A short drive from Lancaster brings the traveler into a country everywhere intended for stock-raising. In viewing the waving native grasses, together with the wild rye, reed and bunch grass, all of which presents at the season of the year a bright green, fresh appearance, denoting the nearness of surface water, one can appreciate the wonderful life opportunity this valley affords for the raising of beef for the Los Angeles market, and at the same time is lost in wonder that it is not more extensively utilized for this purpose. Cattle are kept fat and in good condition for market the year round on this wild land.

But this is not the only use which could be made of this immense area of rich farming country, as there is a large variety of soil adapted for anything and everything which would grow at an elevation of 2500 feet. In the eastern part of the valley it is only 12 to 20 feet to good surface water, and all that could be desired in its especial adaptability of soil, moisture and climate to the culture of the raisin grape. The hay of this portion of the valley is particularly beautiful, having a gentle slope toward the northeast, sufficient for irrigation, should it be required. Big Rock and Little Rock creeks, flowing out of the capacious bosom of Old Baldy pour their welcome waters in such quantity as to make this country independent, regardless of any of the other sources which we have already mentioned, viz., artesian and the nearness of surface water. These creeks alone can irrigate every acre east of the railroad. But this country will evidently not need or require much irrigation. It is found that even in the extreme east, upon high land, deep surface water, even ploughing renders the soil moist nearly all the year.

Eight crops of alfalfa have been grown in one year; the seed is loaded down with alfalfa fruit, fig trees bearing figs every month in the year; vines three years old bearing a grape with a flavor quite equal to the finest, and which has awakened great interest among viticulturists; barley has been harvested three tons to the acre on high ground without irrigation; sugar beets have yielded at the rate of over 300 tons to the acre, and some of the finest and largest potatoes ever seen were shown in this valley. By the way, there is a very interesting case now in progress over this self-same crop of potatoes, the cattlemen having allowed some hogs to destroy part of them. The valley is now so well settled that the farmers are determined to assert themselves, and no longer furnish pastures for the numerous herds of cattle and droves of horses which are dotted over the hills surrounding the valley. It is the old story of the survival of the fittest, and Antelope for wheat is altogether too good for wild pasture. Antelope, like the larger portion of Southern California, is proving to be a diamond which only needs the seed and the laboring to develop the luster.

This correspondence, I fear, is becoming lengthy, and for this reason I will quit, not because I have exhausted the subject. When we consider that the Southern Pacific Railroad runs through the center of this valley from north to south, and the survey has been made by the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad to run east and west, some adequate idea may be formed of the growing importance of Antelope Valley, especially when it is remembered that this valley is capable of sustaining 100,000 farmers and fruitraisers. What a feeder and wonderful tributary this valley will prove in helping to promote the growth and prosperity of Los Angeles!
